

STOP THE BLEED is a national awareness campaign and call to action launched by the Department of Homeland Security. The goal of STOP THE BLEED is to promote grassroots efforts that encourage bystanders to become trained, equipped, and empowered to help in a bleeding emergency before the professional emergency responders arrive.

LERN is playing a leading role in the STOP THE BLEED effort across Louisiana. LERN's role will include presentations and a comprehensive webpage promoting awareness of STOP THE BLEED, train-the-trainer and training support services, and fundraising to allow LERN to provide training supplies, bleeding control kits, and bleeding control stations as funding allows.

DONATE

The costs of STOP THE BLEED training supplies, bleeding control kits, and bleeding control stations will be a barrier to some organizations and agencies.

LERN is requesting contributions from public agencies, nonprofit organizations, private companies, and philanthropic individuals to support this effort.

Your STOP THE BLEED contributions will be deposited in the Louisiana Emergency Response Network Fund and used by LERN to provide training supplies, bleeding control kits, and bleeding control stations to needy organizations/agencies.

TYPICAL COSTS*
